

HOMESCHOOL PROGRAMS

at the Charlotte Museum of History: Winter & Spring 2010

All classes are 10am-12pm · Recommended for ages 7 and up · Reservations are required for ALL classes · Space is limited! · Minimum of 5 children are required or class will be cancelled · NO REFUNDS are available (unless cancelled by CMH) · Contact Sheryl Jacoppo at sjacoppo@charlottemuseum.org for questions or reservations.

History Detective Series - Decoding the Past, Heirlooms: February 12, 2010

Anne Lane, Collections Manager, will show off some of the museum's prized possessions and explain why they are so important to the present day. Learn how you find, protect, and research artifacts from the past. Admission: Free for museum members; $8 for non-members.

Spring Open Hearth Cooking: March 19, 2010

Learn the art of open hearth cooking in the Alexander log kitchen. You will discover colonial culinary skills as you help prepare a dish. Admission: $12 for non-members; $8 for members.

History Detective Series - Who's in your Family Tree?: April 16, 2010

This program will explore how we find our family history. If you have an item or record that will help with your research, please bring it in and we'll explore together. Admission: Free for museum members; $8 for non-members.

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department: May 14, 2010

What does it take to solve a crime? Have you ever thought about becoming a Police Officer? Join us to explore behind the scenes of the Charlotte Mecklenburg Police Department with the museum's newest exhibit, Beneath the Badge. Admission: $5 for museum members; $8 for non-members.

Itty Bitty Fun

Pre-K Program · Ages 3-6 · $5 per child

Each program will involve story time, a take-home craft, music and dance time, and various interactive games!

February 12, 2010: Show and Tell – Bring in your favorite item! · March 19, 2010: Colonial Goodies
April 16, 2010: Who's in your family? · May 14, 2010: Detective Scavenger Hunt

Call ahead for reservations and plan on staying with your pre-schoolers throughout the program.

3500 SHAMROCK DRIVE · CHARLOTTE NC 28215
PHONE 704.568.1774 · WWW.CHARLOTTEMUSEUM.ORG

THE CHARLOTTE MUSEUM OF HISTORY

1774 Hezekiah Alexander Homesite • Three centuries of historic artifacts • Living history interpretations and exhibits

The Charlotte Museum of History, an educational organization, captures and shares the stories of the Charlotte region from settlement forward through exhibits and programs. The museum collects, preserves, researches, and interprets regional artifacts, including the oldest surviving house in Mecklenburg County, the 1774 Hezekiah Alexander Homesite.

Why History Matters

The Education Department of the Charlotte Museum of History (CMH) is committed to providing learning opportunities of civics education and social studies resources for K-12 teachers, students, and Home Education. We promote academic achievement and historical inquiry by empowering teachers to engage students in learning experiences that reflect the many ways that civics, social studies, economics, geography, mathematics, visual arts, and reading and writing are practiced and applied.

Using the North Carolina Model Content Standards, CMH has tailored educational programs to enhance subject matter that is sometimes difficult to convey in a classroom setting. By visiting the Charlotte Museum of History and/or using our educational resources, students can have hands-on experiences that will strengthen their understanding of these important topics.

It is through history and civic education that enrich students' experiences as they go to take their place as citizens of a democratic society and members of an inclusive community.

The
CHARLOTTE MUSEUM of HISTORY

WHERE HISTORY HAS A HOME

Smithsonian Affiliations
Membership Program

3500 SHAMROCK DRIVE • CHARLOTTE NC 28215 • P 704.568.1774
WWW.CHARLOTTEMUSEUM.ORG INFO@CHARLOTTEMUSEUM.ORG

